

How long will the study last?

Participation lasts for 3 years. That includes a screening period to assess suitability which can last up to 8 weeks, a 2-year dosing period during which your loved one will receive an infusion up to every 4 weeks, and a follow-up period of 1 year to monitor any lasting effects. During the follow-up period, your loved one will attend 2 visits, at 4 months and 12 months after they received the last dose of investigational study medication, even if they end the study dosing period early for any reason.
